Client's Name _____

Patient's (Pet's) Name _____

TODAYS PROCEDURE(S): _____

1. Pre-Surgical Blood work: _____ (staff initials)

Blood analysis is very important when any anesthetic procedure is performed. Your pet, regardless of its age should have a pre-anesthetic blood screen that alerts the veterinarian to any underlying disease that would pose an extreme risk to your pet. The following is checked when this blood screen is performed: CBC – complete blood count (red cells, white cells, platelets, etc.) Kidney function, liver function and blood glucose (sugar) level.

I understand the Pre-Surgical Blood work is recommended for my pet and will be an additional cost of 98.75 This is in addition to services already estimated.

Accept _____ (Initial) Decline _____ (Initial)

2. Intravenous Fluid Therapy: _____ (staff initials)

This allows your veterinarian to maintain blood pressure, continue adequate organ and brain perfusion and allow immediate IV access for emergency drugs in the event of an emergency.

I understand the intravenous fluid therapy is recommended for my pet and will be an additional cost of $72.00. This is in addition to services already estimated.
